VARSITY DEFEATS FRESHMEN 26 TO 0

Groves Made First Touchdown of Year on Rollins Field Yesterday.

FORWARD PASS USED

Scrubs Scored on Tiger Eleven in Third Half.

To "Dinwiddie" Groves belongs the distinction of making the first touchdown on Rollins Field this fall. In the Freshman-Varsity game yesterday after ten minutes of scrimmage, Groves went through the freshmen for a touchdown. The Tigers defeated the freshmen, 26 to 0.

The scrimmage opened with a kickoff by the freshmen. The Varsity scrimmaged the ball to the 5-yard line where they lost it on fumbles. The freshmen were forced to kick and the Varsity scrimmaged the ball ten yards. A forward pass gave the Varsity twenty yards. On downs and a forward pass the ball was carried to the 2-yard line when Groves went over for the touchdown.

On the next kick-off the Varsity advanced the ball fifteen yards. Then started a series of plays which culminated in carrying the ball over the line for another touchdown and another goal for the Varsity.

The first half closed with the ball on the Varsity's 20-yard line.

In the second half the Varsity carried the ball on the first down over the line for another touchdown and goal.

Collins, of the Varsity, used a fake play that worked perfectly against the freshmen. He gave such a good imitation of holding the ball in his arm that practically the entire freshman eleven was fooled and the Varsity got away for another touchdown.

The Varsity had the following lineup:

In the third half the Varsity played a team of more its own mettle. The scrubs and the Varsity used much the same style. The forward pass was used frequently but failed in most cases. In the middle of the half the scrubs intercepted a forward pass by the Varsity and ran fifty-five yards for a touchdown.

It was apparent from the playing that the coaching staff is trying to bring the heavier players around. Weight is what the Varsity lacks this year and the heavy men that are available are not so fast as they should be. Gallagher and Zimmerman were pushed hard by the coaches in yesterday's game.

DON'T WORRY ABOUT WATER

After Investigation, City Council Resolves It Is All Right.

There is no need for the people of Columbia to be alarmed concerning the water supplied by the city plant, according to a resolution passed by the City Council Friday night. Most of the present water supply is pumped directly from the deep wells into the city mains.

The resolution also states the council has under consideration the building of a concrete reservoir. Very little water is used from the reservoir now in use.

A little later A. C. Jones of Columbia had the same dizzy feeling and leaned against one of his class-mates. The young man thought he was fooling and moved away and Jones fell to the floor. ## MISS STURTEVANT DENIES THE CHARGES

"World's Best Scholar" Girl Says She Has Done No Wrong.

ARRESTED IN CHICAGO

Federal Authorities Claim Misuse of Mail to Defraud College Women.

Miss Mabel Sturtevant, former University of Missouri student and described as being the "world's best scholar," denies having used the United States mails to defraud as charged by federal authorities in Chicago. She claims she is guilty of no wrong-doing and that eventually she will settle with all the girls who have made complaint against her. She was arraigned before United States Commissioner Lewis F. Mason and her cause continued until October 6. She was released on her own recognizance.

The post office authorities assert the young woman has not given satisfactory account of alleged financial dealings amounting to $5,000. It is claimed she obtained $2300 by means of loans from society women who believed they were contributing to a fund to help poor girls attend college. Girls who worked for her selling cook books and postal cards contributed $2,000 and sixteen co-eds at Northwestern University gave $600, according to charges.

Began Operations in 1912.

Miss Sturtevant, it is said, began her operations in 1912 when she inserted advertisements in country newspapers offering summer work to college girls. The girls who answered her advertisements sold cook books. They made a profit of fifty cents on each sale. Half of this money was to be placed in a bank in the town in which the girl intended going to college and the other half placed in the fund of the Associated College Women Workers. This trust fund was supposed to be available Jan. 1. It is claimed when the girls arrived in the college towns they found themselves stranded and that only in one or two instances did Miss Sturtevant live up to her agreement.

Miss Sturtevant first attended rural schools in Linn County, Missouri. Her parents were poor but the young girl always had a desire to excel. She finished her eight year course in school in five and the high school course in three. She won a curator's scholarship to the University of Missouri.

Worked Her Way Through School

Before coming to Columbia she worked to make additional money for expenses. She took up the study of law and academic courses. In two and one-half years she finished the three year's course, took final examinations and a prize which entitled her to three months' travel in Europe. The next summer she spent abroad.

Then she won the Braun scholarship in competition with students over the world and took a trip around the world at a cost of $3,000. Returning to America the president of the National Teachers' and Students' Association of New York was attracted to this bright young woman. She was made secretary of the organization at a salary of $100 a month. The body existed to stimulate travel and would advance money to promising college men and women.

She carried on this work at the University of Missouri, to which she returned to take a special course to fit her for the around the world tour.

PREDICT SULZER SENSATIONS

Attorneys on Both Sides Say Developments Will be Startling.

By United Press.
ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 27.—Attorneys on both sides of the impeachment trial of Sulzer conferred today, each intimating that sensational developments in the case are impending. The prosecution insisted that the case had been barely started up to the present status and that next week, the defense could show that Sulzer had collected more than $100,000.

Sulzer's attorneys say their defense is perfect. They say they believe they can convince the court that at least a third of the money collected was the gift of friends of Sulzer, the use of which was unrestricted. They will contend that the money was to be used as Sulzer wished. A two-thirds vote is required to impeach.

KAPPAS GIVE THEIR SIDE AS TO RUSHING

Denial Is Made That Miss Helen Aylesbury Was Forced to Remain.

THEIR EXPLANATION

The Young Woman Was Interested and Could Have Left if She Desired.

Editor of the Missourian:

The Kappa Kappa Gamma Sorority wishes to deny the story published in your paper of September 24 to the effect that its members kidnapped Miss Helen Aylesbury and detained her in a room, forcing her to break engagements with other sororities. This sorority feels that the account, unintentionally, reflects on the methods and character of this organization.

The report contained in the University Missourian was given to your representative not by Miss Aylesbury, but we assert that it was given out by members of the Pi Beta Phi Sorority. While it may be an accurate report as given by the Pi Beta Phi members, we deny that it is a statement of facts. We deny that Miss Aylesbury was forced to remain in the room of our members and assert that she could have left at any time she desired. The statement that seven Kappas were in the room with her is not true. Only two were present. Our explanation is that Miss Aylesbury and these two Kappas were merely talking over general sorority questions and that her leaving was a matter of choice.

Miss Aylesbury had a date with two girls of Kappa at 4 o'clock. The young lady calmly sat in the bedroom of the two Kappas unmolested. She seemed eager to listen to the "glories" of Kappa. At 7:30 o'clock two members of Pi Phi came to the house and called for the young lady, who was taken down and delivered by one Kappa. Even at this time the Kappas had to remind her of the date with the Pi Phis. Being blamed for not keeping her dates with the other two sororities, we assert she told to the Pi Phi members the story which appeared in The Missourian.

Naturally we feel this matter deeply and ask you to give space to the publication of our statement of the incident.

Eleanor Asdale,
Secretary.

Y. M. C. A. HAS 605 MEMBERS.

New Campaign Establishes Record Above All Former Years.

Three hundred and two new members in a single morning is the record made yesterday by forty students. By their work the Y. M. C. A. membership jumped to 605 members, or more than the association has ever had before. "Prospects were never so encouraging," said J. S. Moore, secretary of the Y. M. C. A. We confidently expect over 800 members before the close of school.

A large dial, the face of which is divided in spaces representing a hundred members, placed on the Y. M. C. A. building kept a record of the new members as they were turned in by the workers. When the day's work began, 298 students were enrolled as members. At noon 302 new names had been added. The initial fee is optional with the student this year. Amounts varying from one to five dollars are on the application card. The student checks the amount he desires to give. The average is between two and three dollars.

While the count of the new members had been finished last night, the individual record had not been completed. Indications are, according to Mr. Moore, that A. M. Levinson, a junior in the college of Arts and Science, has obtained the largest number of new members. The winner will be awarded the trip to the Geneva Conference.

James Quinn, a sophomore in the college of Arts and Science, will probably run second to Levinson and will be one of the two students sent to Volunteer Congress in Kansas City during the Christmas holidays. The third highest man will also be sent to this congress, but so many workers are close in the race that the full count will be necessary to determine this man. Levinson has turned in over 70 applications and is far ahead of the second highest man.

The Y. M. C. A. will conduct a further membership campaign during the year. Judging by his records in the past, Mr. Moore expects to add two hundred more students as members before the year is over.
